Strategic Convergence of Tel Aviv and Washington: “The Day After Baghdad”

STRATEGIC CONVERGENCE

PHASE II: INITIATIVE

“You must understand that after we seized Baghdad,
the next day we must apply pressure on Iran.”

— Ariel Sharon, addressing the President of the United States

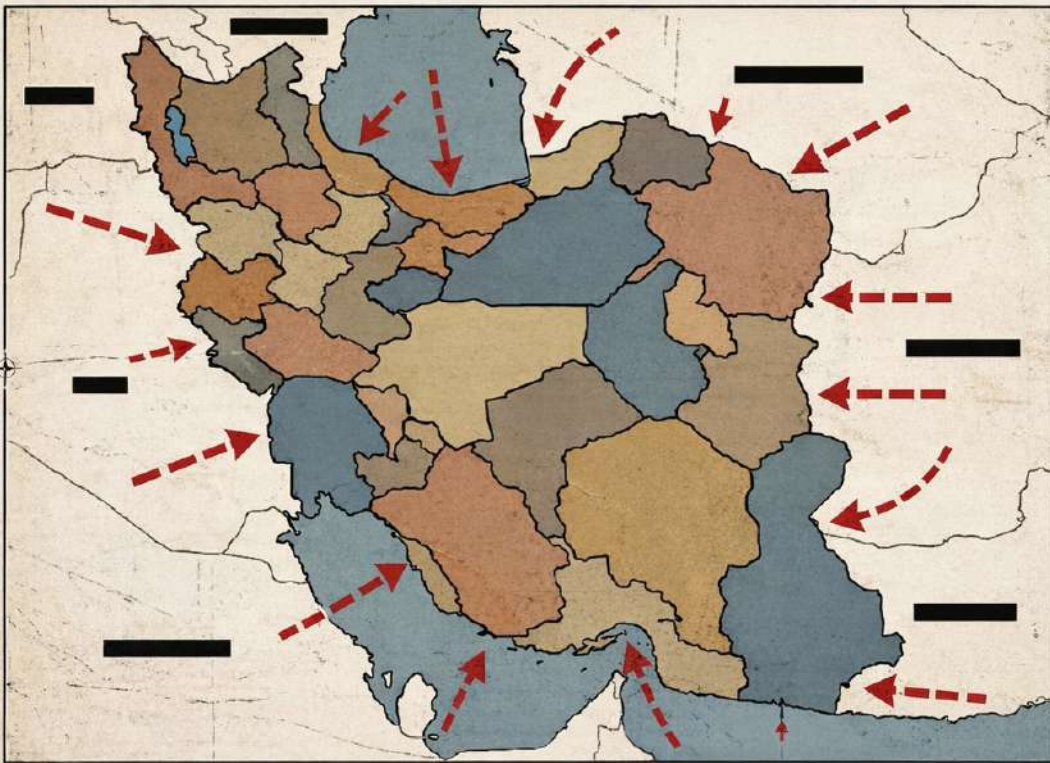

- Exactly the day after the fall of Baghdad, Iran’s nuclear centers became the focus.
- This was not merely a military decision; it marked the beginning of a comprehensive siege.

NEW MIDDLE EAST: "Federation of Separated States" Plan

- Strategy, spearheaded by think-tanks: Divide border regions of Iran into ethnically-based micro-states.
- Ultimate Goal: Turn Iran into a fragmented federation of ethnically-based states in civil discord.
- Desired Outcome: Small, weak entities that would forever remain at loggerheads within themselves, and ripe for absolute Israeli control.

Return to the Era of Contempt: Lord Curzon's Colonial Perspective

“Iran is a pawn on the world chessboard, not an ‘independent actor’”

— Lord Curzon, British Viceroy of India

- 1907 Agreement: Partitioning of Iran between Russia (North) and Britain (South).
- Strategic Objective: Maintaining the spirit of alliance and preventing independence.
- A repeat today: Echoes of neo-colonialism highlight widely similar schemes.

Psychological and Cyber Weapon: Intervention in the Infrastructure of Unrest

“The U.S. State Department intervened in 2009 to prevent Twitter maintenance, because Twitter was a key tool for organizing nationwide unrest.”

— Hillary Clinton —

Key Points:

- Cyberspace as a battlefield for psychological warfare
- Guidance and manipulation of public opinion
- Systematic coordination to transform limited protests into nationwide unrest

CONFIDENTIAL

Plan Origins: "A Clean Break" Strategy

Key Points:

- 1996: Design of the "A Clean Break" document for Benjamin Netanyahu.
- Plan Evolution: Reframed within the Project for the New American Century (PNAC).
- Strategic Core: Redrawing the Middle East map to ensure Israel's security through the fragmentation of neighboring states.

A $7 Trillion Price Tag for the "New Middle East"

$7,000,000,000,000

- The sum of American interventions and misadventures aimed at reshaping the region and countering phenomena like ISIS reached $7 trillion.
- Why is this plan abandoned despite the colossal investment and establishment of military bases?
- Withdrawal from this map and resistance by rival parties has been deemed unacceptable.

Disrupt the Chessboard

- Final goal: transforming Iran into an “anthology of hostile tribes,” not a democracy.
- Awareness of the “Engineering Pain” and “Syrian Template” scheme is a primary deterrent against this conspiracy.
- Retaining “Spirit of Unity” in the face of division and governance.
